RE: Sponsorship Opportunities

Dear Sir/Madam:

This spring, Florida Institute of Technology will host the 8th International, Interdisciplinary Sustainability Forum, Sustainability 2011 – Is It Worth It?, to be held on the Melbourne campus March 8th – 9th, 2011.

Building on the success of the International Sustainability Forums held in 2005, 2007 and 2009, the College of Science and the College of Business are hosting this event. Speakers will be from local, regional and international universities and NGOs such as the Budapest University of Technology & Economics, Shanghai University of Finance & Economics, Florida Solar Energy Center, Indian Institute of Management, Dauphin Island Sea Lab, Environmentally Endangered Lands Program, Wake Forest University, World Commission on Protected Areas, Clausthal University of Technology, Germany and innovative businesses. The conference is aimed at business leaders and policy makers and we expect 100 – 150 attendees plus students and faculty.

MARCH 8—ECONOMICS & SUSTAINABLE ENERGY

Florida and the Space Coast face critical economic challenges. How can we leverage unique intellectual capital to capture sustainable energy and other high-tech jobs? Specific sessions include:

• The Space Coast Economy: Major Challenges & Potential Opportunities
• Clean Energy Jobs & Savings: Case Studies
• Renewable Energy: If Not Now, When?
• Next Steps: Employing Our Unique Competitive Advantage

MARCH 9—MANAGING FOR SUSTAINABILITY

Sustainable practices will be examined by leading experts in the face of climate change, population growth, socio-cultural challenges, terrorism and biodiversity. Specific sessions include:

• Sustainability in the Face of Disaster
• Protecting the Commons
• Confronting Local & Global Challenges to Sustainability

We invite you to join us as a sponsor for this event. Sponsorship proceeds will be used to keep registration fees down and defray the cost of travel, lodging and meals for our international speakers and publication costs. The enclosed information highlights the different sponsorship opportunities. If you would like to discuss sponsor benefits, please contact Ms. Michelle Verkooy (321) 674-6852 or via email at mverkooy@fit.edu. Other questions can be directed to Linda Ward at (321) 674-7573 or via email at lward@fit.edu.
